FEDERAL PROBE OF BEET SUGAR NOT ENDED YET

BY C. S. ALBERT.
[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 19.—The beet sugar "trust" is confronted with additional troubles. Department of justice officials have taken a fresh grip on the situation and will conduct a further investigation to determine whether an illegal combination exists among the refiners of sugar beets. If sufficient evidence can be obtained prosecutions will be instituted under the Sherman anti-trust act.

It had been supposed until today that the beet sugar people were "out of the woods" so far as conflict with the law is concerned. An inquiry by agents of the department of justice had been in progress for many months. It was found impossible to procure the specific facts essential for a successful suit in court. A deep-seated impression was prevailing that the matter was being dropped.

Just at this period a report came in from W. W. Ray, United States attorney for the district of Utah, giving the results of a preliminary investigation regarding the alleged combination of beet refiners in that state.

The report said officials were convinced that a further inquiry was necessary to ascertain the final outcome. Until this is completed it will be impossible to determine whether a suit under the anti-trust statutes will be filed.

Moelne was asked as to the relative cost of placing electric cables on poles and underground. He stated that, ordinarily, it cost about five times as much to establish an underground system as to put in a pole line. In the district of Hilo there was so much rock to be contended with that the cost would be much higher than in other places where only earth is to be figured on in the excavation work.

WHAT'S INDIGESTION? WHO CARES? LISTEN!

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes Sick, Sour
Gassy Stomachs surely feel fine

ARMY LEAGUE TO SUPPORT PLANS FOR BETTER NATIONAL DEFENSES

BY C. S. ALBERT.
[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 19.—The Army League will support the complete legislative program for better national defense brought forward by the secretary of war and the general staff. An official announcement to that effect has been issued.

During the period intervening before the next session of Congress the league will conduct a vigorous and active campaign of education. Literature will be circulated, speeches made and persuasion exerted to make citizens generally realize that more adequate provision should be made by Congress for the protection of the United States.

"I am authorized to state that the Army League will support a legislative program which is recommended by the general staff of the army and approved by the secretary of war," said Gen. Johnston, the new president of the Army League, in discussing the new policy of his administration. "The Army League is a nonpartisan organization composed of men of all parties who are united in an effort to secure an adequate land force for the defense of the nation. Prominent among its officers are Hon. Perry Belmont, for eight years a member of Congress and chairman of the committee on foreign relations—a Democrat; Gen. Robert Shaw Oliver, assistant secretary of war for about 11 years under two Republican administrations. The Army League believes that an adequate land force for the defense of the nation can only be secured by following a line of action which has been thought out by those who have given their lives to the study of national defense.

The law which created the general staff made its duty to take up this great problem, and after two years of study the general staff made a report on the organization of the land forces of the United States which was approved not only by the secretary of war, but by all the general officers of the army and was published August 19, 1912. It provides, merely as a national defensive measure, for a certain increase of the regular army so as to create, as a nucleus, a model force that can be mobilized with great rapidity while steps are being taken to transform the militia into a volunteer organization and train a volunteer army.

"A citizenry trained and accustomed to arms is most desirable in this scheme of our national defense. This training should begin, as in Switzerland, with the youth in our schools. Such training, valuable as it is, is obviously, however, insufficient and must be supplemented by some such organization as that which obtains in Switzerland for the purpose of making this material available and effective in time of war. This requires that legislation be enacted to create an organized reserve for the army and militia of the country. This would lead more effectively in time of war to a system that would assemble the maximum number of officers and men immediately available to operate against the enemy; whereas our present lack of such organization in time of war produces a dangerous status of dispersion and consequent demoralization of our regular force by depleting it of large numbers of officers and men who must be detached for every purpose under the sun connected with an attempt to put an army in the field.

HILO ELECTRIC FIGHT IS AIRED BEFORE SOLONS

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]
HILO, March 29.—Declaring he thought there should be some way in which to settle the matter of J. J. Turner and the Hilo Electric Light Company and the "kick" against the charge of two and one-half dollars for the inspection of all wiring work done by Turner, Chairman W. T. Rawlins of the legislative investigating committee appointed to look into the alleged grievance asked Manager Moelne of the Electric Company what could be done along such lines.

Manager Moelne said that one of three things could be done. They could continue as at present and inspect Turner's wiring of houses, have the inspection done by a regularly appointed inspector of the supervisors or board of underwriters, or have the electric company exempted from any damage that might be caused by defective wiring of houses.

Moelne said he considered it absolutely necessary for the safety of the town that he be satisfied that all wiring in houses be done correctly. If, through defective wiring, half the town were destroyed by fire, the electric light company would be blamed for the disaster, he said. He concluded by saying that he thought an inspector should be appointed by the board of supervisors, the underwriters or somebody.
